JFK Warns Macmillan Of New Soviet Thrust In Congo

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—President Kennedy confronted Prime Minister Macmillan today with the possibility of a dangerous new Soviet-sparked crisis in Africa's Congo.

The U.S. and British government chiefs plunged into two days of study of complex cold war problems under a cloud of gloom generated by a deep British-American controversy over the future of the Skybolt missile.

U.S. leaders reportedly feel there is a very real danger of a renewed Soviet thrust into the Congo should the crisis generated by the secession of rich Katanga Province lead to the collapse of the moderate Leopoldville government.

The British did not appear to be as concerned as their American allies about the Congo prospects. One of Kennedy's aims at this meeting in this sun-splashed British island resort was to emphasize to Macmillan U.S. views of what might be done to defend the Congo against any new Soviet attempt at penetration.

A U.N. spokesman announced Tuesday night that the United States is sending an eight-man military mission headed by Lt. Gen. Louis W. Truman, a cousin of former President Harry S. Truman, to the Congo to survey the military needs of the U.N. force there prior to the supplying of more American equipment to the U.N. troops.

U.S. government sources here said Truman's mission would survey not only the equipment situation but also the whole military prospect. These sources did not exclude the possibility that in an extreme crisis the Kennedy administration would consider sending American forces to the Congo.

There was some speculation in the corridors here that one purpose of the U.S. move was to warn Moscow the U.S. government is alert to all possibilities in the Congo and ready for any eventuality.

U.S. Sharply Concerned Over Brazil

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's underlined trip to Brazil has underlined sharp U.S. concern with that country's deep economic and political problems.

The attorney general returned to Washington Tuesday after conferring in Brasilia, Brazil's capital, with President Joao Goulart. It was believed he emphasized Washington's worry over the Goulart administration's failure to stem a ravaging tide of inflation.

President Kennedy has also signaled his concern over Brazil's problems—a key nation in South America because of its size and influence.

Within the past few weeks the President has had a series of conversations with such figures as Adhemar de Barros, newly elected governor of Sao Paulo; former president Juscelino Kubitschek, and the U.S. ambassador to Brazil, Lincoln Gordon.

The attorney general expanded a trip to Panama in order to make the 12-hour visit in Brazil. The communique which followed the 3-hour Kennedy-Goulart discussion was the usual diplomatic statement that the talks were "useful."

The attorney general was unavailable for comment on his return.

The major cause for the urgent U.S. concern is galloping inflation.

President Kennedy noted at his news conference last week that Brazil's inflation "eats up our aid" but he also remarked that "there is nothing, really, that the United States can do."

On the other side, Brazilians contend a definite improvement of the financial situation is in the works, through measures planned for after the Jan. 6 plebiscite, which is expected to return the country to the presidential system of government.

Then, Brazilian sources say, Goulart will have the necessary authority to carry out the reforms.

minister met informally for an hour Tuesday afternoon, more or less in preparation for their brass-tacks meetings today and Thursday.

Earlier the two leaders conferred with their aides on matters to be discussed. These include the future of the Skybolt missile.

Britain has based her nuclear deterrent hopes on American development of the Skybolt, a long-range missile designed to be fired from bombers at targets a thousand miles away. President Kennedy has intimated he has decided against continuing development of the missile because of test failures so far and the prospective cost. He is said to acknowledge Britain needs some alternative to the missile, and a search for that is part of his purpose here.

Kennedy, U.S. sources say, regards this meeting with the British leader as the most important

U.S. Begins Moving Supplies to Congo

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A high-level U.S. military mission was dispatched to U.N. headquarters today to begin carrying out a White House promise of new military equipment to beef up the U.N. force in the Congo.

A U.N. spokesman said the mission, led by Lt. Gen. Louis Truman, would go to the Congo after conferring with Secretary-General U Thant, who has warned that the U.N. will exert all pressures short of shooting to end the secession of Katanga Province.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson conferred with Thant for nearly two hours Tuesday night on the explosive Congo situation. He said the United States acted at the secretary-general's behest.

Informed sources said the U.S. contribution would consist mainly of air transport equipment.

"The United States has been doing all it could for a long time to support the U.N. operation in the Congo," Stevenson told newsmen. "This request from the secretary-general for new equipment is only a further step in the program for moral support."

Stevenson said he knew nothing about possible use of U.S. troops in the Congo or about any new Soviet power bid in the divided African nation.

U.S. sources at the Bahamas meeting of President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan said U.S. leaders fear a new

Transit 5A In Polar Orbit

To Help Ships, Subs Determine Positions

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (AP) — Transit 5A, the guiding star satellite which rocketed skyward with a brilliant visible for hundreds of miles, gave out a steady signal from its polar orbit today.

The signal will help ships and submarines determine their positions more accurately.

Seconds after Transit 5A's launch at 5:26 p.m. (PST) Tuesday, the colorful trail of the satellite's rocket booster reflected the setting sun's rays like colored skywriting.

It was seen by hundreds from San Diego to San Francisco, Calif., and one observer 900 miles away said he saw a glow in the sky at launch time.

The 140-pound satellite was launched atop the four-stage, solid-fuel Blue Scout rocket by the Air Force for the Navy. It went into orbit an hour and a half later. It was the first of two space vehicles launched from here within hours. A space probe, also utilizing a Blue Scout unit, was launched Tuesday night.

The Air Force did not reveal the payload of the second or the nature of its mission.

Transit 5A is to the first of a four-satellite network which by the end of 1963 should enable ships anywhere in the world to fix their positions quickly, in any kind of weather.

Such information is particularly vital to Polaris-launching submarines which must know their positions precisely before firing their missiles.

Current celestial navigation techniques require clear skies. A brilliant fireball lit up the sky as the setting sun's rays

Newborn Twins Get Ride To Hospital

The twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Baddeley of RD 1, Lisbon, were "doing fine" at the Salem Central Clinic Hospital today, although their births came rather suddenly early Tuesday afternoon at their home southwest of Lisbon near Route 164.

Mr. Baddeley ran to the home of a neighbor, Mrs. Bernice Hill, for assistance, and when he returned he was greeted by the sound of lusty cries of the two infants. Mrs. Hill called the Lisbon fire department which dispatched its ambulance for a post-natal trip to the Salem Hospital.

Jack and Emma Baddeley have eight other children, none of them twins, however.

Hope Mounts For Release of Cuba Prisoners

May Be Returned To U.S. In Time For Christmas

HAVANA (AP)—Hope mounted today that 1,113 Bay of Pigs prisoners may be freed from Fidel Castro's prisons by Christmas in exchange for U.S. food and medicines.

New York attorney James B. Donovan led a team of negotiators into a new round of talks with Castro Tuesday night.

Large stores of donated drugs and food were being assembled near Miami, Fla., in case the exchange goes through.

Donovan, who arranged the trade of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers for Russian spy Rudolph Abel early this year, arrived Tuesday on a third trip to Havana in his effort to effect the release of the Cubans captured in the invasion of April 1961.

With him were Alvaro Sanchez and Mrs. Virginia Betancourt, officials of the Cuban Families Committee, composed of prisoners' relatives.

They went to the home of Mrs. Berta Barreto, another negotiator and soon after Castro summoned them.

Mrs. Barreto said the prisoners may be freed soon — "God willing."

Sources close to the negotiators said the prisoners, if freed, probably will be flown to Miami in chartered planes.

Castro demanded $62 million for their liberty but agreed later to take food and medicine instead of cash.

Havana relatives of the prisoners perked up on hearing reports from the United States of the shipment of tons of these supplies to Opa-Locka airfield near Miami.

The reports included these details:

Castro demanded $23 million worth of drugs, $6 million in equipment, $9.5 million in powdered milk and $14.5 million in baby foods. He supplied long lists of the drugs wanted. This totals only $53 million at manufacturers' list prices, but Donovan said some time ago Castro could put his own value on the stocks.

It was understood the prisoners would be released on delivery of 20 per cent of the amount demanded and a pledge for the balance.

The Air Transport Association, an organization of aviation executives, said eight domestic airlines were cooperating to transport 600,000 pounds of supplies to Florida at the request of the Red Cross.

Eight trucking firms were moving 420,000 pounds of supplies to Opa-Locka free of charge.

The 435-foot freighter African Pilot, loaned by the Farrell Lines to the Red Cross, was steaming to Port Everglades, Fla., to pick up the load if the exchange is completed. Fifteen shipping companies had combined to finance the water transportation.

Paul Willis, president of the Grocery Manufacturers Association, said his organization had taken charge of soliciting food from manufacturers and "the response has been very generous."

The Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association coordinated drug donations.

6 Injured In Road Mishaps

4 Accidents Probed By Highway Patrol

Six persons received minor injuries in four traffic accidents investigated Tuesday by state highway patrolmen from the Lisbon and Canfield barracks.

Three Minerva area persons were hurt at 3:25 p.m. when two cars driving left of center because of crowding snowdrifts collided on a hillcrest on Township Rd. 701, three miles south of Route 62.

William E. Johnson, 26, of RD 3, Minerva, received possible chest injuries. Mrs. Helen L. Oesch, 36, of RD 3, Minerva, complained of stomach pains, and the two front teeth of her 12-year-old son, Douglas W. Oesch, were chipped. The injured persons were taken to Alliance City Hospital for examination but did not require treatment.

Lisbon patrolmen did not cite either Johnson or Mrs. Oesch, operators of the cars on the snow-covered back road. Both autos were considerably damaged.

Donald W. Harris, 26, of East Liverpool was treated by a physician for whiplash after his auto was struck in the rear by another Tuesday morning at 10 on Route 267, about one mile south of Route 62.

The driver of the other vehicle, Robert B. Workman Jr., 30, of RD 2, Lisbon, was cited for driving without the assured clear distance after he hit the Harris car which had slowed at the intersection of County Road 424 and Route 267.

Mrs. Esther Lower, 29, of RD 1, Negley, a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Jack Lower, 30, received neck injuries in another rear end collision yesterday.

Man 'Forgot' to Renew License 10 Years Ago

It "accidentally" dawned on a Girard man Tuesday that there was something he forgot to do 10 years ago.

Gerald McCoy, 38, remembered, after a sequence of events yesterday.

He was involved in a traffic accident at 5:45 p.m. near New Springfield on Route 165. Mrs. Esther Lower, 29, of RD 1, Negley, riding in the car with her husband, Jack, 30, received a neck injury after McCoy's car struck the rear of their auto.

The Canfield patrol blamed McCoy for the accident, citing him for failing to stop within the assured clear distance and for failure to have an operator's license.

It was on the latter count that McCoy had his memory jogged real good, when this colloquy took place:

Patrolman: "Why don't you you have a driver's license?" McCoy: "I forgot to renew it."

Patrolman: "And when did it expire?" McCoy: "In 1953."

Seeks To Force Auditor To Pay Bill

City Files Action In Meter Dispute

The drawn-out issue regarding payment by the city for parking meters came in for a share of City Council attention again Tuesday night.

City Solicitor Thomas Coe announced that he has filed a mandamus action for the city of Salem against Auditor Helen R. Coyne, to force her to pay Magee-Hale Park-O-Meter Co. of Oklahoma City, Okla., for parking meters delivered to the city.

Auditor Coyne claims that the parking meters were purchased by Mayor Dear B. Cranmer without authorization from Council and she has refused to pay $12,842 to the company for the meters which have been in use since November, 1961.

Mayor Cranmer read to Council the following letter received recently by him from Lyle Soule and Emery, Oklahoma City, Okla., counselors.

"We are attorneys for Magee-Hale Park-O-Meter Co. and have had referred to us the matter of your city's contract with that company providing for monthly payments on the parking meters purchased by you. No payment has as yet been received and there is due and owing us as of Dec. 31, 1962, $5,835."

"We must ask that the city promptly pay this past due amount and make future payments on time or we will secure counsel in your area to take the necessary steps to effect collection by a legal action."

"We value your city as a good customer and we hope nothing more will be required than this letter."

The mayor commented that he hoped Council would see fit to pay the bill immediately "so that the city can maintain a good credit rating."

They were armed with revolvers and pistols crudely assembled from smuggled parts.

They moved quickly, firing on guards and seizing 20 hostages, including a prison chaplain. The leaders were joined by the 400 inmates in two cell blocks and they barricaded themselves there.

Hernando Beiro, a hostage in one cell block, said the rioters told two captive guards to eat their supper and then shot them in the back.

A hostage in the other cell block said one ringleader wanted to shoot hostages but was restrained by other prisoners.

City Judge Leopoldo Insaurralde, sent to talk to prisoners at their request, returned after 15

Tranquilizers Having Tremendous Impact on Mental Health Work

EDITOR'S NOTE—Drugs have proven useful treatments for various mental illnesses. The up-to-date report on their effectiveness and on the controversial evidence that much mental illness may stem from faulty body chemistry and not traumatic psychological situations. Third in a series of five special reports on mental health.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—"The devil still talks to me," she said, "but I don't bother to holler back."

Thus did a tranquilizer drug bring one woman a ticket back toward mental health. From then on, she could cooperate with psychiatrists to work out an understanding of her emotional illness.

The "mood drugs," such as tranquilizers to calm excited minds and psychic stimulants to combat depression, are part of an exciting chemical era in mental illness. There are two great objectives.

One is to develop far more effective drugs for various types of mental illness.

The other is increasing, if controversial, evidence that much mental illness may stem from faulty body chemistry.

If specific chemical errors could be pinpointed, they probably could be corrected to prevent or cure mental ills, much as vitamin C combats scurvy.

Psychiatrists are divided over prospects of such chemical controls.

Tranquilizers, coming on the scene about eight years ago, and antidepressants, are having tremendous impact. Men and women sick for months or years have described the mental effects as the lifting of a curtain or cloud, or brightening of a dark room.

Drugs have provided a bridge to home for many thousands of men and women. Many continue taking them.

With early, prompt use of drugs, through clinics or private physicians, many persons would never have to go to mental hospitals in the first place, declares Dr. Nathan S. Kline, director of research at Rockland State Hospital, New York.

Others Less Convinced

Other psychiatrists are less convinced of the value of drugs—some 30 different tranquilizers and more than a dozen antidepressants are available now. Some say equally good or better results are obtained with intensive psychiatric treatment of patients, but admit to the shortage of psychiatrists.

The National Institute of Mental Health has set up the Psychopharmacology Service Center to speed the screening and testing of new compounds.

To many researchers, a great, encouraging fact is that mood drugs do affect the brain, even though the mechanisms are not fully understood.

And certain other drugs, such as mescaline and LSD, actually produce hallucinations or other symptoms of severe mental illness in healthy persons—more reason to suspect that faulty body chemistry could be the reason for at least some types of mental illness.

Abnormal Chemicals Found

In another sign, scientists have found abnormal chemicals, or abnormal amounts of regular body chemicals, in the blood and urine of schizophrenic patients. Whether these are the result or, possibly, the cause of mental illness is not yet known.

A few conditions now are known in which an inherited chemical defect or dietary deficiency causes mental retardation in children. Damage is avoided if the trouble is detected in time.

In the traditional view, mental illness is born from breakdown in human relationships, or from extreme emotional stress. The wounded mind may withdraw, or turn to behavior relieving its stress and pain. Some scientists believe mental illness is a result of both environmental reactions and faulty chemistry.

Psychotherapy presents puzzles. It is a method of listening to patients and helping them discover reasons for their behavior, and new insights. There are many approaches.

But psychiatrists do not understand how it works, or why one method helps some patients, but not others. It is difficult to prove conclusively that psychotherapy works at all.

Research dollars are increasing. This year about $75 million is being spent in research by the institute, the National Association for Mental Health, state governments, universities and other organizations.

Perfect Yule Tree

By HAL BOYLE

ANYTOWN, U.S.A. (AP)—Just like every other average American husband, Wilbur Peeble had two big Christmas duties.

One was to pick out a nice present for his wife which she could exchange the next week for something she really wanted, his other chore was to buy the family tree.

As he set out on his annual tree hunt, Wilbur's wife, Trellis Mae, said helpfully: "Try to find one that doesn't have a bad side."

Stumbling through the frigid night, Wilbur mumbled bitterly to himself.

"Find one that doesn't have a bad shape. Find one that doesn't have a bad side. For 20 years she's been giving me that same old business," he mumbled. In the darkness, Wilbur squared his jaw and vowed, "Well, by thunder, this year I will find one."

Stamping his feet in the cold, Wilbur looked over hundreds of trees in half a dozen corner lots.

It was after midnight and Wilbur was about to give up. Then he came to the last corner lot. A little old man stood alone amid his trees that had yet to find a home.

"I want a tree that doesn't have a bad side," said Wilbur abruptly. "Nothing else will do."

The old man looked him over. "Son, you have come to the right place," he said. "I've been selling Christmas trees, man and boy, for half century, and this year—for the first time—I've got an absolutely perfect tree."

He led Wilbur to the back of the lot. There, alone in shimmering beauty, stood a 10-foot tree, the like of which Wilbur had never seen.

Every needle was bright green and firm and strong. The branches arched in flawless symmetry. Wilbur inspected it with a flashlight for 15 minutes, but could find no flaw. His quest was over.

"How much?" he inquired. "I had intended to spray this tree with preservative and donate it to the Smithsonian Institution," said the little old man. "But, recognizing in you a fellow artist, a man with a true soul, I could be talked into parting with it for $22.95."

"I never heard of paying $22.95 for a Christmas tree," objected Wilbur.

"Not $22.95 for just a Christmas tree," corrected the old man. "But $22.95 for the only perfect Christmas tree you will ever see in your life."

Wilbur sighed, paid, took the tree home and set it up in its stand. Then he lay down on a sofa to rest.

Trellis Mae had been visiting down the hall. A few moments later she entered with a neighbor, who had come to borrow a cup of sugar. Wilbur watched silently as the two women studied the tree.

"Nice," commented the neighbor finally, "but I think I'd turn it a little to the left." The two women did turn the tree, then stood back for another look.

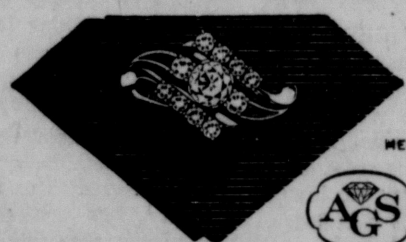

"Yes, you're right," agreed Trellis Mae. "Now the bad side hardly shows at all."

Wilbur sank back on the sofa and groaned.

Moral: Wives don't really believe in perfect Christmas trees—or perfect husbands.

Reports Heard at Meeting Of County School Board

LISBON — The Columbiana County Board of Education heard a monthly report by Urton Anderson of Salem RD 5, high school consultant, on special projects undertaken in the four county school districts by various teachers.

He said several of the teachers are doing exceptional work in various phases of education.

Asked how the schools were progressing in regard to state requirements, he said several were doing outstanding jobs, over er and above state requirements, but others were just "getting by."

In other business Supt. James L. McBride reported on his remarks about school consolidations made at the national convention in Kansas this past summer which were printed in the national magazine.

Insurance rates for band instruments were discussed, and it was reported that if the schools secured a policy covering their combined instruments, the rate would be about 45 cents per $100 valuation. At present some of the schools are paying as high as $1.05 per $100. It was suggested that a thorough study be made.

A discussion was held on the meeting scheduled in January on the consolidation of Wellsville, Stanton Local and Southern Local School districts. Most of the board members disapprove of the proposed consolidation.

The clerk was authorized to transfer funds in different accounts to balance out the books for 1962.

Fred Lohman, Salineville RD 2 attendance officer, reported on his activities last month.

Bills of $707.58 were ordered paid. The board's next meeting will be Jan. 15 at 8:30 p.m.

YWCA TO CLOSE

The YWCA will be closed for the holidays from Thursday to Jan. 2.

No Federal Rollback

In the course of trying to understand President Kennedy's astonishing position on tax-cutting without a corresponding rollback of federal spending, it is useful to realize this may reflect the thinking of big business, big unions and big politics.

Though it is one of the wildest fiscal proposals that can be imagined, it is underwritten by the Committee for Economic Development's research and policy committee. Though CED does not underwrite the idea, itself, nor does its research and policy committee aim to push legislation to put it into effect, tax-cutting to stimulate the economy is supported in a policy statement issued late last week.

Two steps are proposed. The first would reduce individual income tax rates by 8 per cent of present rates, with a proviso that no rate should go over 70 per cent, plus a reduction of the corporate tax rate from 52 to 47 per cent. This would subtract some $6 billion from federal income.

The second calls for a further 6 per cent cut of individual income tax rates and another 5 per cent cut in corporate rates, with an additional proviso that the individual rate could not exceed 60 per cent. The second step would lop off $5 billion.

AND WHAT about federal spending if these things were done?

It would be held at existing levels. There would be no rollback—just the same level of spending.

However, it is hoped that the economy would be stimulated so that income would balance outgo by 1964.

The tendency for federal spending to rise in ratio to rising revenues resulting from economic growth must be stopped, says the CED committee, its only acknowledgment that politicians, not economists, have a hand in the process.

Not all businessmen are going to bite on a proposition that is designed to be attractive to them. Among those who have dissented is Frederic R. Kappel, chairman of American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and a member of the CED committee. He says the "importance of restraining the growth of federal expenditures needs greater emphasis."

BUT EVEN in his dissent there is not a word about rolling back federal spending, only about restraining its continued growth. By the time Congress convenes next month there will be a strong and growing clamor for tax cuts right away, tax reform later—and hang the expense.

Fiscal responsibility, which so far has been more happenstance than design, may be about to bloom forth as a national policy.

They Might Try Their Hand

Difficult as it is to see why British critics of the U.S. decision to abandon the Skybolt missile should think of striking back in anger by damaging the Anglo-American alliance, it is not difficult to see why they are angry.

Their anger springs from frustration.

They do not want to concede that they lack capacity to bear the crushing cost of their own nuclear weapons capacity. When they abandoned their missile, the Blue Streak, for the U.S. Skybolt, it was to save the cost of developing the Blue Streak.

The United States has spent $675.9 million to develop the Skybolt, designed to be fired from a high-level bomber at a target 1,000 miles away. This missile was to have been used in conjunction with British Vulcan bombers, counterparts of the U.S. B-52 bombers. Both countries regarded the Skybolt as a logical way to preserve the usefulness of high altitude bombers.

The United States has other nuclear weapons capacity—B-47 and B-58 bombers, besides the B-52 bombers, and the Atlas, Titan, Minuteman and Polaris missiles. Without the Skybolt, Britain has nothing. Hence its anger. It has been cut out of nuclear capacity, unless it can develop its own missile.

That might be the solution—its own missile.

Britain might even be given the benefit of all the work done on the Skybolt, with a chance to get the rest of the way on what would top out as a $2.5 billion project.

If it felt it could not carry through a project at such great cost without positive assurance of success, the Skybolt issue would be settled.

The United States feels the same way—though it still might let the ingenious British try their hand at their own expense on the same project.

Charles Laughton

It could be wished that all actors possessed the consummate skill of Charles Laughton.

When he was hateful, or when he was lovable, his performance of the role demanded no imagination from his audience. He was completely what he portrayed.

In the medium of motion pictures, where he made his successful career, this has not been common. There has been a long line in assorted roles; only the names and costumes changed.

Charles Laughton, too, played himself but in a way that transformed him into the character the play required. Perhaps even the experts would be hard-pressed to explain the difference.

But surely it had something to do with his mastery of the spoken word—a mastery so complete he could hold an audience spell-bound reading from a book as easily as he could exert his showmanship with benefit of costume, makeup and a multi-million-dollar set behind him.

We are glad we had the privilege of sharing his artistry.

By Truman Twill

off the bend heads of the trough-eaters by whom we are surrounded. We resent it when they, having gorged themselves, finally raise their greasy, spattered faces, swab off the bigger chunks of effluvia and snort, "Hay, you better get around some of that stuff or they'll take it back."

We do not go for threats, but we admit they are based on realistic practice in public eating places. It is not easy to be the last man at the table, being stared at by the beady eyes of all who finished eating 20 minutes ago and breathed on by the waitress who has been ordered to get that plate away from that double-decked, unprintable name of a name or turn in her apron.

It is not pleasant to keep on chewing under these circumstances. The stomach contracts and feels full. The mouth gets dry and the jaws grow tired.

Sometimes the only way out is to ask for a bowser bag on the thin pretext of taking the uneaten part home to a friend. And all this discomfort is caused by the food-wolfing that goes on all about us for no reason, except that people never learned how much more fun it is to savor each bite on the way down and to linger over it like a lover lingers over a kiss.

People are not, after all, lions and tigers. They are not even dogs, which still bolt their food because instinct warns them that if they dawdle over it another dog may get it and them too.

These are the thoughts we think on days when we have heartburn because we tried to close the gap between first and last place. We curse the day we were taught to chew our food well and "Watch your manners and get your face out of that plate"

Unanswered: Why Did U.S. Delay Cuba Action?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

President Kennedy has unwittingly just given the American people an explanation of how an administration should not function in a crisis. He told of his experience with numerous advisers and conflicting opinions in connection with the Cuban crisis.

David Lawrence
government of the United States did not tame action in Cuba when first reports came concerning the intervention of the Communist government in the island country.

Mr. Kennedy tells of how critical those "six days" in October were when his advisers gathered around him and there was fear that a misstep might be made. But he doesn't give any satisfactory answer to the question of why the Cuban situation was allowed to drift as far as it did before those same six days of decision-making started.

The president's review of his first two years in office, as given over television and radio of the three major networks, is an example of the advantage which the president has in getting publicity. There was no opportunity to rebut or refute what he said. Copies of his remarks were not made available to the press until about an hour and a half before the first broadcast. Opposition speakers who could have told the American people the weaknesses in the President's argument had no chance to examine the transcript, though actually Mr. Kennedy gave the interview 24 hours earlier, when it was taped by the networks.

The Cuban problem has not yet been solved, and it will take intensive investigation by congressional committees to find out why the American people were left unprotected from the time last August when first reports came in concerning the emplacement of Soviet missiles to the taking of action late in October.

THE PRESIDENT'S analysis of the way his administration reacted to the Cuban crisis indicates that he did not actually decide to take action against the Soviet government until he had some photographs showing the missiles were already in place. Many Americans had believed, from a reading of history, that the Monroe Doctrine was still a part of the foreign policy of the United States. They had assumed that the United States would act promptly to prevent the establishment of any European system in this hemisphere.

The Kennedy administration, however, allowed the Soviet government to get a stronger and stronger hold in Cuba. Indeed, when the so-called "invasion" was undertaken in the spring of 1961, the Kennedy administration at first agreed to help the Cuban exiles and then withdrew air cover.

It was this blunder which led the Soviets to believe that they could take a chance and send missiles to Cuba and that nothing would be done until the missiles actually were in place. Then the missiles could be withdrawn as a part of a trading process, with Premier Khrushchev hoping perhaps he could get concessions from the United States in connection with the Berlin or other controversies.

THE DANGERS and risks in making foreign policy decisions by the method outlined by the President in his interview on television will give pause to those who have hitherto believed that the government of the United States would never allow any potential enemy to get as close as the Soviets did in Cuba.

The fact that missiles were being shipped to Cuba was well known, and speeches were made, calling attention to this, on the floor of the Senate by Republican leaders as well as by some Democrats.

The Central Intelligence Agency, on which the American government must depend for knowledge of what is going on inside foreign countries, had a substantial amount of information in Cuba. It was enough for the American government to act upon and at least to demand in the late summer that the Cubans get rid of Russian military equipment of all kinds.

Mr. Kennedy in his interview tells of the fears of his advisers that the situation might be "escalated." The difficulty is that the situation was allowed to reach the brink of danger, anyway.

Hitherto, American policy has been based upon established principles. There is no need for conferences among advisers, official or unofficial, to determine what the duty of the United States happens to be when a basic principle of national safety has been violated. It is as if the United States would argue whether or not it should retaliate when a blow is struck against its security.

The fact that, when such a blow was struck in Cuba, it was the subject of six days of discussion before a determination was made to take forceful action, is an indication of how slow the process of decision-making has become.

MR. KENNEDY'S explanation of the Russian attitude in connection with the missiles in Cuba is an interesting illustration of how little the United States was prepared to meet the different contingencies which arose. Instead of forestalling action, the problem was allowed to develop to a point where a real crisis emerged. Mr. Kennedy gives an interesting narrative of what happened. He says:

"I think, looking back on Cuba, what is of concern is the fact that both governments were so far out of contact, really. I don't think that we expected that he would put the missiles in Cuba, because it would have seemed such an imprudent action for him to take, as it was later proved. Now, he obviously must have thought that he could do it in secret and that the United States would accept it. So that he did not judge our intentions accurately."

The American people will still want to know why the United States did not do more about Soviet activities in Cuba during the years 1961 and 1962, especially when there was widespread knowledge that the Communists were militarily active in that country.

Thus says the Lord, though they be strong and many, they will be cut off and pass away. Though I have afflicted you, I will afflict you no more.—Nahum 1:12.

There are no crown-wearers in heaven that were not crossbearers here below.—Charles H. Spurgeon.

Matter of Fact

In the middle of winter Easterners can eat fresh, California fruit. This, of course, would not be possible without refrigerated boxcars. The earliest known use of refrigeration by the railroads was in July, 1851. In that year several tons of butter were shipped from Ogdensburg, N. Y., to Boston in a wooden boxcar insulated with sawdust and stocked with ice.

Reds' Operation Panic

By VICTOR RIESEL

LONDON
This is a report on Operation Panic—a long-term Soviet project. It is planned for the Continent. Its scope and audacity surprise even the well informed, surprise—proof British insiders.

If successful, the Russians will provoke hundreds of thousands of workers into clogging European roads, railroad trains and even the air lines in a frightened dash southward from northern Europe—especially from vital West Germany industrial sectors.

Operation Panic is aimed at the 675,000 foreign workers who have moved into Germany from Southern France, Southern Italy, Spain and Greece. These are fine working people. They have developed new skills inside Germany and are sharing in the Bonn Republic's fantastic prosperity.

FOR MANY REASONS this disturbs the Soviets. The foreign workers in Germany send money home, thereby bolstering the economy in other anti-Communist lands. Also being sent home is word that tens of thousands of jobs are available in West Germany for relatives who care to come.

And under the Common Market agreement, there are very few border restrictions for the much-needed workers. They can cross over without being snarled in old-fashioned red tape.

When I was in Germany this past summer there were 265,000 Italian workers; 87,000 Spaniards, and more than 67,000 Greeks. There were others, but not in such numbers.

This means bread and peace for many whose own home lands have been hard hit by either the invasions or scarcities of the big war.

So the Soviet international apparatus was ordered into action some two years ago. The German FBI, known as the Federal Office for the Protection of the Constitution, began encountering Communist cells in areas where the newcomers were settling and working.

The cells were traced back to the Soviet's global labor network known as the World Federation of Trade Unions (WFTU), operating out of Prague.

Since there is virtually no Green Communist movement, the WFTU picked its agents from among the 60,000 Communists who fled after their unsuccessful revolt in the late '40s.

THESE TRAINED activists were then planted among Greek workers in Germany.

Cells for the Spanish workers were recruited from the cadres of the Spanish Communist party in exile, headquartered in southern France.

Infiltrating the Italian workers became the assignment of the powerful General Confederation of Italian Labor (CGIL).

Its headquarters is in an expensive part of Rome, behind the American Embassy. The CGIL has thousands of operatives and it was easy to peel off several hundred to migrate with the Southern Italian workers seeking a stake in Germany.

This migration is doubly important to Italy. Not only are these Italian workers earning a living, they are learning skills. Once they're trained they can return to southern Italy and man new factories there—plants such as the $400 million steel mill now under construction in Taranto. More skills, more mills. More mills, more jobs. More jobs and perhaps hunger and poverty may be scraped off "The Boot."

This could kill Communist strength. Being practical men, the Communists reckon that the prime objective must be to frighten the Italian workers out of migrating.

even temporarily, to Germany.

Thus in August 1961 the Communist apparatus gave its Operation Panic a whirl. The Italian Communist party signaled its cadres inside Germany to spread word that the NATO forces were planning an attack on the Bundeswehr (army) of the "Democratic German Republic."

SWIFTLY THE PARTY cells disseminated reports that the assault was "imminent." Italian workers were told it was necessary to build a "wall" through Berlin to stop this attack. This aggression was bound to burst into a thermonuclear holocaust, was the warning. "Return home immediately" the Italian Communist party cells in Germany told their countrymen. But the Italian workers did not panic.

Soon West Germany's Office for the Protection of the Constitution observed the party cells being reorganized and strengthened. Prague radio broadcasts in Italian, Spanish and Greek to these workers in West Germany intensified.

Insiders expect the Communist apparatus soon to give Operation Panic another try.

Those Soviets never miss a trick.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter will be 17 in March. Everyone comments on how attractive she is, yet she never has been asked for a date. Penny always has been fairly well-behaved and has never given us any trouble—until now. She has taken an unusual interest in a 14-year old boy who lives down the street. He comes from a good family, is intelligent and nice looking but much too young for Penny. His parents are friends of ours and they don't like it any more than we do.

The two of them usually giggle and whisper like 9-year-olds but at times they make "cow eyes" at each other and moon around like lovers. Frankly, we can't figure it.

I tried to shame Penny into dropping the boy but she became furious. Now she lies about where she has been after school and sometimes she sneaks out the back door to meet him after she says she is going to bed.

What advice can you give us?—CONCERNED.

Dear Concerned: Ridicule and preaching will do no good. It will only force her to be more devious and defiant. Say nothing about the boy for now. Accept the situation as you would if he were three years older.

If Penny hasn't lost interest in this boy by the time she has reached her 17th birthday, see a counsellor who deals with problem adolescents. He will steer you.

Both my husband and I thought this was in poor taste. Are we wrong? Should we suggest to the bride that if she doesn't care for the painting she can return it for credit and get something to her liking?—M.

Dear M.: If gifts are being displayed, all gifts should be shown—or none.

Selecting art for others is a hazardous business and I think it would be generous of you to tell the bride she may exchange the painting if it isn't something SHE would have selected.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News.

The Last Man

Everything about a good meal is good to the last bite, which is hearsay when we slow-eaters dine away from home. We never get to the last bite.

In the contest to determine who can ingest the most groceries in the least time we aren't entered. We're bystanders.

Yet, it is taken for granted that our rate of ingestion should be determined by that of win, place and show eaters who are sponging the gravy off their chops about the time we ruminants are swallowing the second bite.

This is what we are—ruminants. It is an honorable thing to be, though awkward among gulpers and bolters. We have a problem.

As children, we were made to chew our food well. Some of us who were kids longer ago than others were made to Fletcherize our food, which meant grinding it as fine as it now is possible to grind food in an electric-powered grinding machine for reducing solids to a liquid state.

Our chewing habits were inculcated so deeply we can do nothing about them. It is impossible for us to swallow until everything has been ground to a consistency to delight the gods, whose mills also grind exceeding fine.

Besides a carryover from our early training, many of us have been carried away by the idea the table is an ideal place for conversation; that this distinguishes it from a feed trough.

Instead of converting mealtime into a reversion to savagery, we convert it into a demonstration of civilized behavior. We keep our heads up out of our feeding dishes, look about us with equanimity and fill the air with bright remarks and witty sayings.

We resent it when these witticisms bounce

Mr. Magoo Delightful In 'Christmas Carol'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—If the ghost of Charles Dickens was watching television Tuesday night, it would have been interesting to catch the Victorian "author's" reaction to NBC's cartoon treatment of his sentimental "Christmas Carol" classic. It might have been choleric. But most of us contemporary viewers must have felt that casting near-sighted, bulb-snatching Mr. Magoo as miserly, crotchety Ebenezer Scrooge was sheer inspiration. Converting the rather syrupy Tiny Tim tale into a fairy story with a musical comedy background proved a wonderful idea.

Children of all ages had a delightful time with the sly, tuneful animation. Loveable Mr. Magoo as an actor playing a part told even the smallest viewer that it was all let's pretend, so those ghosts, skeletons and graveyard were merely delightfully scary. The hour-long version ought to have its place on NBC's shelf of classics, along with "Peter Pan" and "Amahl and the Night Visitors," ready for an annual Christmas rerun.

President John F. Kennedy's "conversation" Monday night with three network correspondents was a memorable, impressive hour. Not only was it an important person-to-person updating on matters of vital concern to all, but it provided millions of average citizens, in their own homes, a chance to feel close to the man who must make many critical decisions on their behalf.

It was a wonderful thing for the nation when, in the depression-wracked thirties, Franklin D. Roosevelt used the medium of radio for his informal fireside talks. Now President Kennedy has an even more intimate, powerful means to reach the nation. He sat easily, comfortably, in his rocking chair, handling all questions crisply, concisely and without pulling any punches.

CBS plans to switch two of its day shows around on Dec. 31—moving "To Tell the Truth" to 3 p.m. and its reruns of "The Millionaire" to the following spot in an effort to strengthen its programming.

Recommended tonight: Perry Como Show, NBC, 910 (EST)—Christmas show with Kukla, Fran and Ollie; "Journal of an Undersea Voyage," news special, NBC, 10-11—film taken aboard a nuclear submarine.

Salem on Youngstown, Wheeling Bus Route

The Intercity Transit Co. of East Liverpool today announced establishment of bus service between East Liverpool, Youngstown and Wheeling, with three round trips a day via Salem.

John W. Young, president, said tentative plans are to pick up and discharge passengers here at the intersection of Alt. Rt. 14 and W. State St. after the bus runs are begun next Thursday.

He added the firm hopes to acquire bus depot facilities more centrally located.

The Intercity firm, which also provides municipal service in East Liverpool and Wellsville, replaces the Greyhound Bus Line which, Young said, has dropped its Youngstown-East Liverpool - Wheeling franchise.

Young declared the buses will operate 365 days a year, with half-day schedules on Sundays.

Mr. Shnoo's Zoo Christmas Story

By Lucrece Beale

(Chapter 15)
THE FLOOD

Mr. Shnoo got up very early on the morning of Christmas eve. He did not know what time the Queen would arrive but he intended to be ready for her. He dressed carefully in his best blue suit. He shined his shoes and selected an elegant tie and put a sparkling white handkerchief in his breast pocket.

He went outdoors. It was a fine day. Even the sun was shining, which was unusual at this time of year. Crookshank went hurrying by, his head hunched down between his shoulders.

"MERRY CHRISTMAS!" called Mr. Shnoo gaily.

Crookshank did not answer but rushed on. Mr. Shnoo shrugged. He was too happy to be annoyed. He whistled a gay tune as he strolled along. Presently he noticed that the path he walked on was damp. As he went on, the path became wetter and wetter until Mr. Shnoo's feet began to get quite soggy. In fact, by now, there was water rushing over his shoes.

He stopped in amazement and looked all around. There seemed to be a flood of water coming down the street, filling the gutters rolling over the sidewalks and spreading out to the animal cages. Even while Mr. Shnoo stood there, the water rose halfway up his legs.

Attendants began to run from the animal houses shouting "Flood! Flood!" The lions roared in surprise and the leopards growled and leaped against the doors of their cages. Snakes slithered to the pipes and lighting fixtures on their ceilings. The monkeys climbed onto the reindeer's antlers and the seals were washed right out of their pools.

Ducks swam down the road and an old sea lion floated over to visit the polar bear.

"Where is it coming from?" cried Mr. Shnoo as the attendants rushed by carrying chickens and prairie dogs and other small creatures that could not swim.

"The main water line has burst over beyond Molly's house!" shouted a man sailing by on a raft loaded with small animals.

MR. SHNOO WADED over to Attendants ran, shouting 'Flood! Flood!'

Molly's house. By the time he reached there he was swimming. The hippopotamus was not at all disturbed. She had floated out of her pool and was calmly swimming up and down the big mammal house.

Mr. Shnoo pulled himself up on Molly's back and tried to think what to do. Presently Molly swam right out the door and Mr. Shnoo could see tons of water pouring out of a big round hole in the main water pipe that ran beside the house.

"Good heavens!" he thought. "There's enough water there to drown us all!"

Without waiting another second he shut his eyes and stood on his head and wiggled his toes. This was a very hard thing to do on top of Molly's slippery back but he finally managed it and he said "Selbuort Gnippop" three times real quickly. When the last word was out he fell into the water over his head and when he came up, Molly was gone.

"Help! Help!" sputtered Mr. Shnoo because he thought he was going under again.

"Quit calling for help and come help me!" cried someone. Mr. Shnoo shook the water out of his eyes and saw Molly nearby with Santa sitting astride her neck, facing backwards and pushing a paddle as hard as he could.

MR. SHNOO climbed aboard and Santa handed him a paddle and shouted, "Back her up! Full steam astern!"

Mr. Shnoo faced around to Molly's rear and he and Santa paddled furiously while Molly, sensing what was wanted of her, paddled her own feet in reverse. Little by little she was backed up to the big hole in the water pipe.

"Now!" shouted Santa. "Give her all you've got!"

He gave a mighty shove and Mr. Shnoo gave a mighty shove and Molly gave a mighty shove and plop! Molly's end went right in the hole and the water was stopped.

Davidson Upsets Duke 72-69, Faces Cincinnati Next

Bearcats Boast 24 Wins In Row

Colorado Chalks Up Win Over Creighton

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Cincinnati's top-ranked college basketball team had better watch out. The upset-hungry Davidson Wildcats may be loaded for Bearcat.

It's a sure thing Cincinnati, which has won 24 in a row and has a date with Dayton Thursday, will be more respectful when the teams meet on the Bearcats' court Saturday.

Because, Tuesday night, Davidson turned in one of the major upsets of the young campaign by knocking off second-ranked Duke 72-69 at Charlotte, N.C.

The setback was the Blue Devils' first in seven games and lifted Davidson's record to 5-1. Duke had won 52 of the 59 previous meetings between the teams including one by a 76-68 count three weeks ago.

Fred Hetzel and Bill Jarman sparked a tremendous team effort. Hetzel scored 27 points and Jarman 21. Art Heyman and Jeff Mullins each had 21 for Duke.

In other top games, sixth-ranked Colorado defeated Creighton 76-55; Vanderbilt routed Louisville 95-72; Memphis State upset Minnesota 78-70; UCLA beat Butler 81-68; Wake Forest came from behind to defeat Virginia 78-73; Oklahoma trounced Texas Tech 85-62 and Stanford edged Oregon 54-51.

Elsewhere, Tulsa set a school scoring record in defeating Adams State College of Colorado 107-54 at Tulsa; Oklahoma City downed North Texas State 79-63 at Denton, Tex.; Cornell romped over Syracuse 93-77 at Ithaca, N.Y.

At Worcester, Mass., Holy Cross walloped St. Anselm's 85-64 and Rhode Island ran up its highest score in a decade while trouncing New Hampshire 121-92 at Kingston, R.I.

The Chicago Zephyrs if you'll pardon the expression, are moving like the wind. For the Zephyrs, anyway.

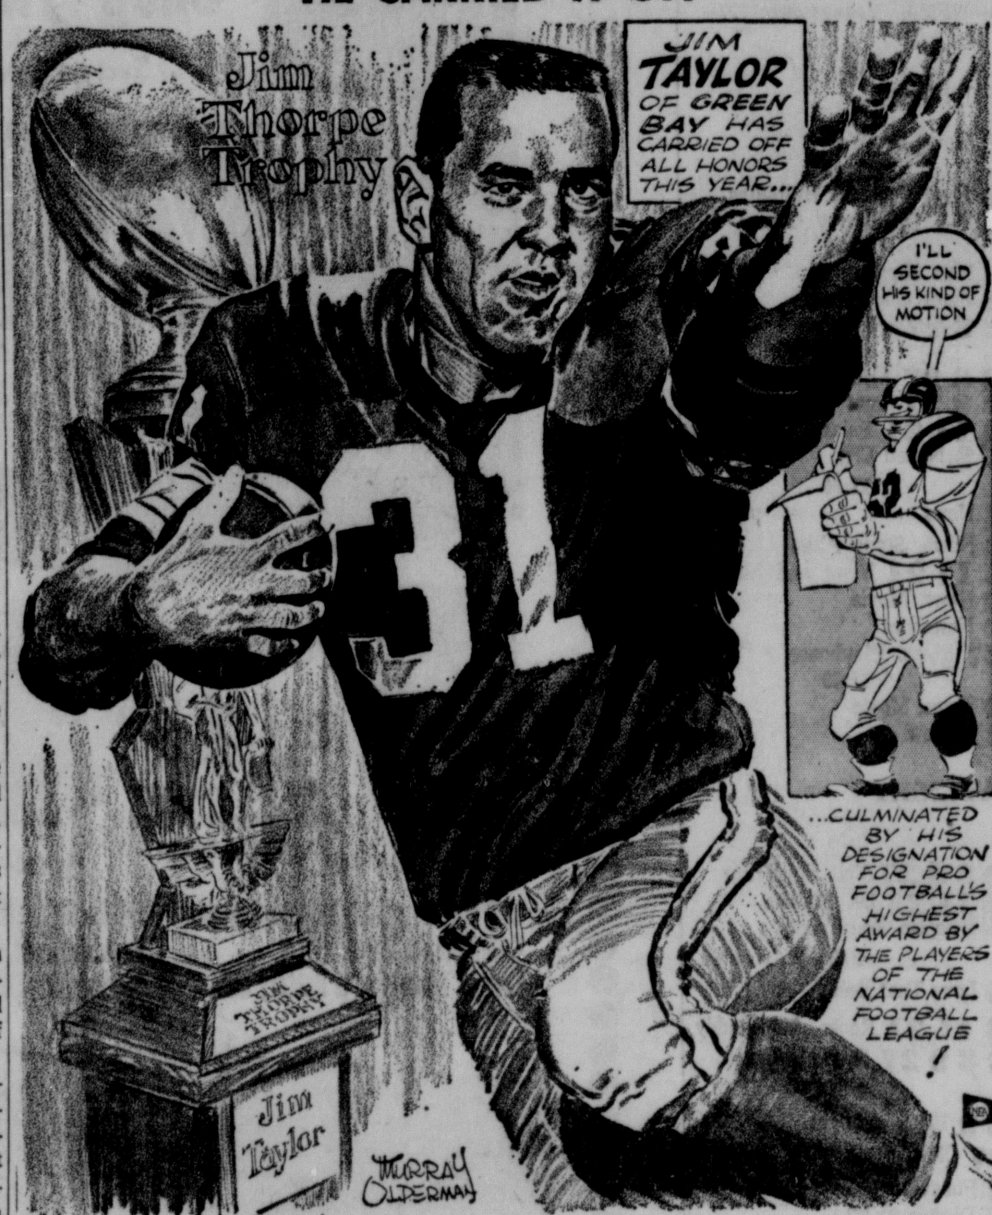

The newest team in the National Basketball Association won its third straight game — the first time Chicago has ever won three in a row — Tuesday night 113-110 over the Detroit Pistons.

The Zephyrs, in third place in the Western Division by percentage points over the Pistons before the game, moved a full game ahead of Detroit, which absorbed its fourth straight loss and fell into the cellar.

In the second game of a Madison Square Garden doubleheader, the New York Knicks ended a three-game losing streak with a 103-102 decision over the Cincinnati Royals.

In San Francisco, the Warriors, who had lost 14 of 15 previous starts, moved out of the Western Division cellar with a 130-110 victory over the St. Louis Hawks as Wilt Chamberlain clicked for 61 points.

clip, shoots for more honors next week at the Quaker City Tournament in Philadelphia.

The unbeaten Falcons already have swept past four opponents in convincing style. A championship in the holiday tournament would boost Bowling Green's national stock and give the BeeGees a good shot at breaking into the elite category—the Top Ten.

Coach Harold Anderson's nifty squad showed plenty of class last Saturday when it raced to an easy 83-58 triumph over tough Western Kentucky.

Among other things, the victory marked the first time a Bowling Green team had beaten the Hilltoppers on the loser's floor; it was the worst home court defeat in 16 years for Western and it snapped a 29-game home winning streak for the Kentuckians.

The Falcons are led by 6-foot-11 Nate Thurmond and 6-1 Howard Komives, a tremendous 1-2 punch that has left opponents reeling.

Thurmond, for example, poured in 25 points and grabbed 28 rebounds in the Western tiff. This lanky senior, one of the finest defensive players in the country, has averaged 17.2 rebounds and 16.7 points a game in his last two seasons.

Komives, a southpaw standout who set a school record as a soph with 526 points, has a deadly jump shot and last year hit on 45 per cent of his shots. His .859 accuracy from the free throw line ranked him seventh in the nation.

Anderson, whose teams have won 485 games in 28 years going into this season, has 12 lettermen back from last year's squad which turned in a gaudy 21-4 mark en route to the Mid-American Conference title.

The Falcons have speed, backboard strength, a good bench and are stingy defensively. Last year, they allowed only 61.4 points a game, good enough for 16th in the country.

Other top performers include Wavy Junior and Elijah Chatham, who are valuable boardmen and good scorers.

Perhaps the real test will come next week when Bowling Green tangles with St. Joseph's in a first round tournament game. If the BeeGees get by this one, they'll have to beat back the challenge of the other competitors in the meet—Providence, Delaware, Manhattan, Villanova, LaSalle and Brigham Young.

Green Bay piled up most first downs rushing (145), net yards rushing (2,460), average yards per rush (4.7), pass completion percentage (60.1) total touchdowns (53), touchdowns running (39), extra points (52) and total points (415).

Vince Lombardi's club also showed the way with fewest passes intercepted (13), least yards interceptions returned against (122) and most total first downs (281). The first downs set a league record, breaking the 278 set by Los Angeles in 1950.

On defense the Packers allowed the fewest points (146), the fewest first downs passing (94), the least net yards passing (1,746) and had the most interceptions (31).

The Giants captured the total offense title with 5,005 net yards rushing and passing. They had the most TD passes (35) and lost the fewest yards attempting to pass (139).

Philadelphia again topped them all in passing yardage with 3,385 yards.

The rock-bound Detroit defense that shook up the Packers allowed only 3,217 yards and also led in rushing defense by giving up only 1,231 yards.

Gilchrist is AFL Player Of The Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Cookie Gilchrist, a traveling man who was the first player to run for 1,000 yards in the American Football League, is the Player-of-the-Year in the three-year-old pro loop.

An Associated Press committee of writers and broadcasters from the eight league cities named the 243-pound fullback of the Buffalo Bills Tuesday.

"That's wonderful. The man deserves it," said Bills' coach Lou Saban.

Gilchrist spent nine years in Canadian football, playing with five teams in three leagues, before he found a home with the Bills last season.

"He helped bring the Bills from the bottom to near the top," said Saban.

The bruising fullback, now 27, went directly from high school to the Canadian League in 1954, when he was 19. He was finally waived out of that league by the Toronto Argonauts, with a reputation of being hard to handle.

The Bills reportedly paid him $20,000, and got their money's worth. Saban said Gilchrist has not signed his 1963 contract, and the honor "only makes it more difficult."

Gilchrist received 13 of the 24 votes cast by the AP committee. Len Dawson, the 27-year-old quarterback who led the Dallas Texans to the Western Division title, drew eight votes for second spot.

Ohio Wesleyan Nips Oberlin 51-48; Heidelberg Triumphs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio Wesleyan's Battling Bishop basketballers, perhaps eyeing their upcoming eastern swing a bit prematurely, nearly tripped over a bunch of Yeomen Tuesday night in their bid for a repeat Ohio Conference regular season crown.

The Bishops just had enough stuff to nose out Oberlin 51-48 on OWU's own hardwood in Delaware.

It put Ohio Wesleyan at 5-0 in the conference standings, knotted with Wittenberg (5-0) and Akron (4-0).

OWU shoves off for games at St. Peter's and Fairleigh Dickinson in New Jersey this Thursday and Saturday, thence to Baltimore for a Dec. 28-29 carnival.

Oberlin's Yeomen waved them anything but a timid bon voyage.

The Yeomen (now 0-3 in the OC) rolled into a 36-29 lead early in the second half, then after a sea-saw exchanged took a 48-47 edge with 1½ minutes left. Ray Slabough was the man of the hour for OWU, sinking two free throws to recapture the lead, then clinching the verdict with a last-second fielder.

Packers Lead In 11 Categories

Giants Lead NFL In Total Offense

NEW YORK (AP)—The Green Bay Packers failed to lead the National Football League in either total offense or defense but dominated the final team statistics by finishing first in 11 offensive and four defensive categories.

The New York Giants, who meet the Packers in the league championship game, Dec. 30 at Yankee Stadium, showed the way in total offense. Detroit, which lost the Western crown although it was the only team to beat the Packers, led in total defense.

Green Bay piled up most first downs rushing (145), net yards rushing (2,460), average yards per rush (4.7), pass completion percentage (60.1) total touchdowns (53), touchdowns running (39), extra points (52) and total points (415).

Vince Lombardi's club also showed the way with fewest passes intercepted (13), least yards interceptions returned against (122) and most total first downs (281). The first downs set a league record, breaking the 278 set by Los Angeles in 1950.

On defense the Packers allowed the fewest points (146), the fewest first downs passing (94), the least net yards passing (1,746) and had the most interceptions (31).

The Giants captured the total offense title with 5,005 net yards rushing and passing. They had the most TD passes (35) and lost the fewest yards attempting to pass (139).

Philadelphia again topped them all in passing yardage with 3,385 yards.

The rock-bound Detroit defense that shook up the Packers allowed only 3,217 yards and also led in rushing defense by giving up only 1,231 yards.

Gilchrist is AFL Player Of The Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Cookie Gilchrist, a traveling man who was the first player to run for 1,000 yards in the American Football League, is the Player-of-the-Year in the three-year-old pro loop.

An Associated Press committee of writers and broadcasters from the eight league cities named the 243-pound fullback of the Buffalo Bills Tuesday.

Gilchrist received 13 of the 24 votes cast by the AP committee.

Len Dawson, the 27-year-old quarterback who led the Dallas Texans to the Western Division title, drew eight votes for second spot.

Champ Suggest Round-Robin Series

Liston Believes Johansson Is The Top Candidate Now

TORONTO (AP) — Champion Sonny Liston, although he said he didn't think the best of them would last two rounds with him, Tuesday night suggested a heavy-weight round-robin series involving himself, former champions Lloyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson and brash Cassius Clay. Liston, appearing on Canadian television, said the best idea would be for promoters to match him against Johansson and Patterson against Clay.

The winner of these two bouts would then meet for the title, he said.

Liston ran all three of them down, however.

He said he doubted the public could be sold on a rematch with Patterson following his one-round knockout of the former champion. "People listen to his mouth, but they don't watch him fight," Liston said of Clay, the talkative challenger whose last victory was a "call-your-shot" fourth round KO of ancient Archie Moore.

"Johansson is the outstanding boy right now," said Liston, but he said he didn't think the Swede would last two rounds against him.

The champion said he did not doubt that a $1 million offer by Johansson's advisor, Edwin Ahlquest, to meet the Swede in Stockholm was legitimate.

"Ahlquest has that kind of money and even if he doesn't, Johansson could put it up himself," said Liston. "He was rich when he came over here and he got richer."

Liston said another obstacle to a rematch with Patterson is the money owed him from the first fight. He said the promoters failed to live up to their contract by paying him half his purse—$185,000—within 48 hours of the fight. He got only $100,000. The other half was to be held in escrow pending the second fight.

The U.S. government seized the receipts because of tax problems. Liston said Clay has yet to prove his right to a title bout. He said he thought Clay would draw well against Patterson, however.

OUT DOORS with Fidd & Stream

By RUFUS L. LILE

According to news releases, the deer kill is down this year, not because of scarcity of the animals but because of the heavy snows in northern Ohio making it practically impossible for Ohio hunters to get at them.

Going is really rough in Columbiana County with secondary roads being almost impassable, snowed enough to make moving and a tiring experience and extremely cold weather hard endure.

DOLPH THE red-nosed deer had nothing on the news after a few minutes in the field. Actually, hunters' noses checked were as red as a beet exposure to the elements. Despite all odds, with the hunt-pressure being down, the deer was about normal for this county. Twenty-nine deer went through the aging stations.

According to the official check 20 fawns were taken and 9 adult deer of both sexes. This means we have ample brood stock left over for next year. Not one trophy buck was taken, neither did I see a deer that would go 200 lbs. Even so, many hunters reported the big buck he saw out of gun range.

Among the successful hunters was Mary Jane Foster, residing near Negley, who checked her doe through the aging station in Columbiana. The deer was taken on her own property. Joseph Hrovatic, Sr., and Joseph Hrovatic, Jr., of RD 3, Salem, both bagged does. Tod Pike, Guilford Lake, brought in the biggest buck I saw but he would never reach the 200 lb. class. It was a 5-pointer with a small rack.

ONE HUNTER HEADS the class in hard luck. Carl McCartney, Salem, has hunted deer with a bow and arrow for the past several seasons without ever getting a good shot at one. Before the gun season he was within close range of a big buck. "This is it," he thought. With a powerful draw on the bow the string snapped and the buck just ambled away.

That isn't all that happened to him. Just before the gun season opened, he was still in pursuit of deer when he slipped off a log and hurt his back. That prevented him from getting in on the gun season. Carl said, "I had my stand all picked out for the first day" as he knew where the deer crossing would be. Another hunter took his stand and bagged his deer. He is now reconciled to the fact it just isn't in the books for him to get a deer.

Steers Post 119-106 Victory In ABL Game

This seems to be break-up time in the American Basketball League with three hot-shots steering the Kansas City Steers toward another first place finish.

Bill Bridges, Gene Tormohlen and Larry Staverman, each of whom has taken turns triggering the Steers to victory, formed an unbeatable trio Tuesday night as they rallied Kansas City to a 119-106 triumph over Philadelphia in the only ABL game scheduled.

It was the Steers' sixth straight victory and it stretched their lead to two full games over runner-up Long Beach.

Bridges wound up with 35 points, Tormohlen with 31, and Staverman with 22.

of all the six he has had with Macmillan since he was elected president.

The reason for this is not only the urgency of the Skybolt problem—which is threatening Macmillan's political position at home—but also because of the whole range of pressing cold war problems.

The Kennedy-Macmillan discussions also will touch on such subjects as the Soviet-Red Chinese rift, the Chinese-Indian conflict, various problems of the NATO alliance, including the attitude of France and the growing sentiment for an independent European nuclear potential, the meaning of Soviet economic troubles, and problems involving the European Common Market.

Kremlin attempt to extend Soviet influence into the Congo if the continued session of Katanga results in the fall of Premier Cyrille Adoula's moderate central Congo government.

The sources in Nassau said Truman's group will survey the military situation in the Congo as well as the equipment needs of the U.N. force.

Thant's call for U.S. aid came as the chief of his Congo mission, Robert K. A. Gardiner, hastened to U.N. headquarters to discuss the explosive situation caused by attempts to bring Katanga and the central government together.

The U.N. has more than 18,000 troops in the Congo, but India wants to pull out her contingent of more than 5,000 because of her border conflict with Red China. Troops of the big powers have been barred from the U.N. Congo force so far to prevent the area becoming a cold-war battle ground.

Youngstown Man

Fined for Contributing

LISBON—Charles Mulligan, 24, of Youngstown was fined $200 and was given a suspended four-month jail sentence at a hearing Tuesday afternoon before Juvenile Court Judge Louis Tobin on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 17-year-old Negley girl.

He admitted having illicit relations with the girl but claimed he didn't know she was a minor. The girl was placed on probation to her mother.

Judge Tobin chided Mahoning County authorities for not taking action in the case. The girl and a 16-year-old companion ran away last month to Youngstown and were bought clothes by several of Mulligan's friends who tried to lure them into prostitution, the judge said. Mahoning County officials were notified and given full information, but did not intervene, Judge Tobin said.

Reilly PTA Staff Session Is Held

Members of the Reilly School Parent-Teachers Association executive committee met Tuesday evening in Principal Earle Smith's office at the school. Richard Coburn presided.

Mr. Smith commented on the rising tuition at colleges and universities with regard to raising the amount given teachers from the PTA scholarship fund for further study in their fields.

Mr. Coburn reported that the Jungle Larry Show has been scheduled for Feb. 16 in the Junior High auditorium.

Principal Smith and Mr. Coburn met with the Board of Education Monday evening for discussion of a school cafeteria or hot lunch program. They reported that the board feels the cost would be prohibitive at this time and if inaugurated in one school all schools should be allowed to participate. However, the board will make a survey of conditions and announce a policy later.

The present lunch period will be lengthened another 15 minutes starting next September and the walking distance to school for the 4th, 5th and 6th grades extended from six blocks to seven to help alleviate crowded lunch room conditions. Mr. Smith said that during the recent cold spell 260 pupils ate their lunch at school. Many car pools have been formed for transportation to and from school at the noon hour.

The group will meet again Jan. 22 and the general meeting of the PTA will be Jan. 29.

Lions See Magic Show At Christmas Party

Richard "Tricky Ricky" Metts entertained with feats of magic when members of the Lions Club met for their annual family Christmas party Tuesday evening in the LaPe Hotel. Clifford Zimmerman was chairman in charge of arrangements.

The white covered U-shaped dinner table was decorated with arrangements of pine boughs centered with lighted red candles in hurricane lamps. Favors for the men were ball point pens and for the ladies tiny brass bells.

Dr. Willard Stamp is president of the club.

Crippled Children Feted by Rotarians

Eighteen crippled children were guests of the Rotary Club Tuesday at a Christmas party and chicken dinner at the Memorial Building.

Entertainment included Elden Nichols, a magician from Greensburg, Pa., and a visit from Santa Claus who distributed gifts to the children.

The children and the 75 Rotarians present sang Christmas carols, accompanied by Mrs. Wilbur Schnurrenberger.

Gary Greenberg was in charge of the event and made the introductions.

Police Seek Benefits

for the following instead of a pay increase:

One - Seven paid holidays to be worked out between the department and committee of council members; Three - A hospitalization plan to be paid for by the city, or if this is not feasible, $100 per year for uniform allowance.

Following receipt by Council of the request from the police department for new benefits, Councilman James Aldom commented: "I will not vote for one penny additional benefits for any city employees until the service they render to the people of Salem is improved."

The request from the police department was referred to council's safety committee.

Asks Zoning Officer

Mayor Cranmer suggested that the hiring of a full-time zoning officer would enable City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff Jr. to work without continual interruption on various engineering projects throughout the city. The mayor pointed out that full-time zoning officers are paid from $325 to $350 in other cities. The mayor's suggestion was referred to the traffic and safety committee.

The ordinance calling for Salem's furnishing fire protection to Perry Township, introduced Tuesday night, engendered expression of divergent views on the part of councilmen.

Councilman Aldom gave the only "no" voice to a motion to suspend rules, giving all three readings to the ordinance last night so that the ordinance could be passed as an emergency measure. Perry Township's present contract with Salem for fire protection expires at the end of this year.

Councilman Aldom said that delaying passage of the measure was his means of calling attention to the fact that he thinks it somewhat unfair that persons who choose to build their homes near the outskirts of the city should expect to reap benefits paid for and maintained by residents of Salem.

"By extending such benefits to people right outside the city limits, we are not encouraging them to come into the city. We are, in fact, discouraging them from doing so," declared Aldom.

Taking a different stand, Councilman John E. Rance pointed out that Perry Township agrees to pay $2,250 to Salem annually for fire protection and that the township also furnishes use of modern fire equipment. Rance maintained that continuing "good relationship with the township" is the way "to convince these people of the benefits of coming into the city."

Of four ordinances introduced at the Dec. 4 Council meeting, three were given second readings and one was given second and third readings and unanimously passed.

Unanimously Passed

Given final two readings and unanimously passed was an ordinance authorizing and directing the board of park commissioners to enter into a contract for the lease of park concessions beginning next spring.

One of the three ordinances given second reading authorizes and directs the service director to advertise for bids and enter into contract for repairs to the City Hall.

Another calls for the vacating of a portion of North St. and two alleys running north from Middle Alley to North St.

The other ordinance given second reading calls for the retaining of Attorney John E. Bauckicht of East Palestine as special counsel to represent the city auditor in the mandamus action to be brought against her because of her refusal to pay for city parking meters.

Three Transfer Ordinances

Of the four year-end emergency ordinances introduced and passed last night, three call for the transfer of sums and one for an appropriation.

The transfer ordinances call for: The sum of $2,700 to maintenance and supplies from plant payroll and $600 to maintenance and supplies from incidentals and $83.46 to power and heat from incidentals; $60 to pipe extension from new meters and $100 to incidentals from pumping maintenance in the water department; $1,200 to street construction, maintenance and supplies from street department payroll.

The other emergency ordinance appropriates $5,867 to traffic paint in the amount of $200 and $5,667 to maintenance and supplies from street construction, maintenance and repair fund.

Other Council Action

Also during the Tuesday night Council session:

The city received a claim for $50 from Mrs. Hilda McGranahan of 271 S. Broadway for medical bills incurred as the result of a fall in a public place Oct. 20.

W. R. Hochradel of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. appeared before Council to remind the legislative group that his company's three-year contract to supply gas to city residents at the current rates will expire Jan. 14, 1963. He pointed to recent increases on the part of the company for costs of equipment, labor, material and taxes. Hochradel said he has not received new figures from the company, but that he would present them to Council as soon as he receives them.

Charles Tomlinson, superintendent of city parks and recreation, explained that weather conditions involving, among other factors, sudden heavy snow which kept the pond from freezing were the reasons there has been no ice skating thus far this year at Memorial Park. Tomlinson promised ice skating at the park as soon as feasible.

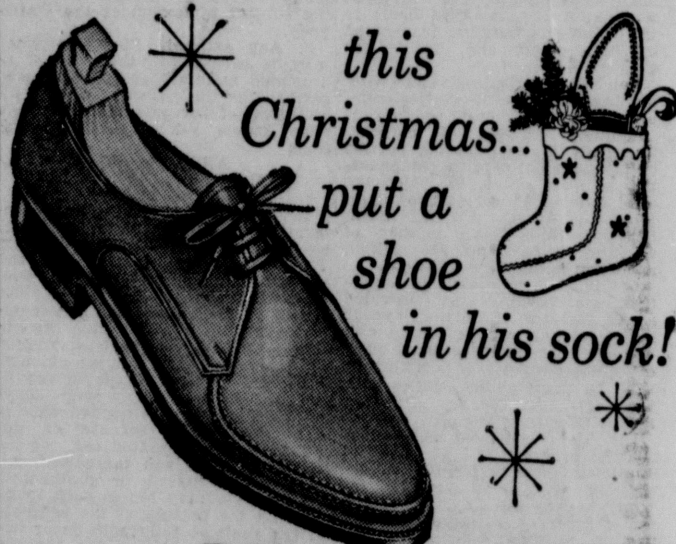

The park superintendent estimated that the Cedar Lincoln playground will not be ready for use for two years. "We want to plant grass and get a sod on the area before the playground equipment is put in," said Tomlinson.

Councilmen Harold J. Asty and Ralph K. Zimmerman were re-appointed trustees of the policemen's and firemen's pension fund.

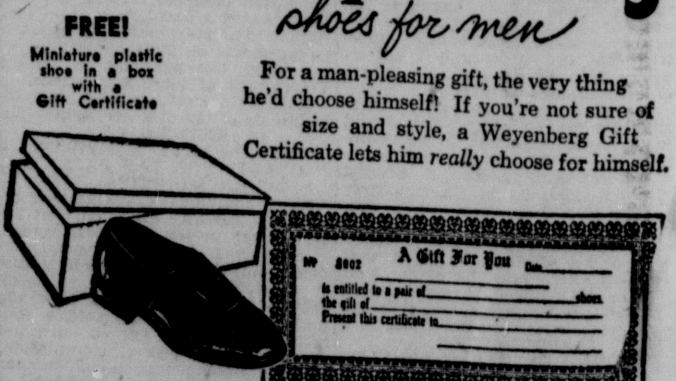

THREE DRIVERS FINED

LISBON—Three motorists were fined a total of $12 and costs Tuesday by County Judge James L. MacDonald after they were cited by the State Highway Patrol. Fined were:

William R. Kelly, 49, East Liverpool, $2, speeding; Thomas W. Price, 20, Salineville, $5, failure to stop within the assured clear distance, and Thomas A. Johnston, 31, of Toronto, $5, driving on an expired driver's license.

Icebox Cake Has Gone Modern

Look what's gone streamlined! That belle of the '20s — Icebox Cake.

This scrumptious dessert probably made its first American appearances when ice chests began to be a standard part of our kitchen equipment. Then when the '20s rolled around, it really had its heyday. Its antecedents were undoubtedly the Austrian and German torten — cake desserts of a rich variety, according to Webster.

Favorite of all icebox cakes of the '20s was a chocolate version. For this lady fingers were used to line a spring form, then more of the "fingers" were alternated with a filling of chocolate, eggs and butter or cream (or both). This glorious concoction went into the icebox to chill overnight, so it would be ready to cut beautifully for a next-day party.

Now comes a quick-and-easy version of chocolate icebox cake, a culinary beauty of the '60s. Made from lady fingers, the dark sweet variety of packaged chocolate pudding plus whipped cream, we found it delicious: Because not all kitchens boast spring forms, we made this dessert in a regular loaf pan so it could be turned out.

MODERN CHOCOLATE ICEBOX CAKE

1 package (3 ounces) dark sweet chocolate pudding, 1½ cups milk, 2 to 3 packages (3 ounces each) lady fingers, 1 cup heavy cream.

Follow package directions for making pudding, using the 1½ cups milk instead of the 2 cups called for. Pour pudding into a bowl; place waxed paper or saran directly over entire surface of pudding; refrigerate about one hour. Line bottom and sides of a loaf pan (9 by 5 by 3 inches) with 2 crossed strips of waxed paper.

Now line bottom and sides of pan with some of the split lady fingers. Stir the chilled pudding to soften. Whip cream until stiff; fold into stirred pudding. Pour half of pudding-cream mixture into pan. Arrange split lady fingers on top. Pour in remaining pudding. Top with lady fingers.

Refrigerate overnight. Snip off any protruding tops of lady fingers at sides so they are even with top layer. Invert on serving plate; remove waxed paper.

Serve with extra whipped cream if desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Cooking Is Fun...

SPECIAL CREAMED HAM

3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 3 tablespoons flour, 1½ cups milk, 1 chicken bouillon cube, 1½ cups diced (½-inch cubes) left-over baked ham, 1 cup finely diced celery, ½ cup lightly drained canned tiny green peas, White pepper to taste, 1 can (3 ounces) chow mein noodles.

In a medium saucepan over low heat melt the butter; stir in the flour. Add the milk and bouillon cube; cook and stir constantly over moderately low heat until thickened and bubbly, making sure the bouillon cube is dissolved.

Add the ham, celery, peas and pepper; reheat. Just before serving top with the heated chow mein noodles; accompany with cooked rice. Makes 4 generous servings.

The crisp celery and noodles give good contrasting texture with the sauce, ham and peas.

SARDINE SANDWICHES

1 can (3½ ounces) brisling sardines, 2 small carrots, ½ cup minced parsley, 1 teaspoon minced onion, 1-3 cup mayonnaise, 6 slices bread.

With a fork, lift the sardines from the oil into a bowl; mash fine Pare the carrots and cut off tops and root ends; finely grate 1 of the carrots over the sardines; grate the other onto waxed paper and reserve.

Mash the sardine-carrot mixture with ¼ cup of the parsley, the onion and mayonnaise. Toast the bread and spread one side of each slice with the sardine mixture; sprinkle with the reserved grated carrot and the remaining ¼ cup minced parsley. Cut each slice into 2 triangles. Makes 3 or 4 servings.

CODDLED APPLE CUSTARD

1 cup (1 medium) diced pared apple, ¼ cup water, 2 tablespoons dark brown sugar, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, 1 package (2½ ounces) custard-flavored dessert mix, 2½ cups milk, Glazed or salted pecans (if desired).

In a 1-quart saucepan stir together the apple, water, sugar and cinnamon. Simmer until apples are tender and syrup has evaporated—about 15 minutes.

Spoon apples into five 6-ounce custard cups or heatproof dessert dishes. Turn dessert mix into saucepan; stir constantly over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil.

Remove from heat. (Don't worry about mixture being thin, it thickens as it cools.) At once pour over the apples into the custard cups. Chill without stirring. Makes 5 servings.

Granges

Perry Has Program

Allan Schmidt presented the lecturer's program when members of Perry Grange met recently in the grange hall.

Announcement was made that the county youth dance will be Dec. 27 at Willow Grove Grange hall.

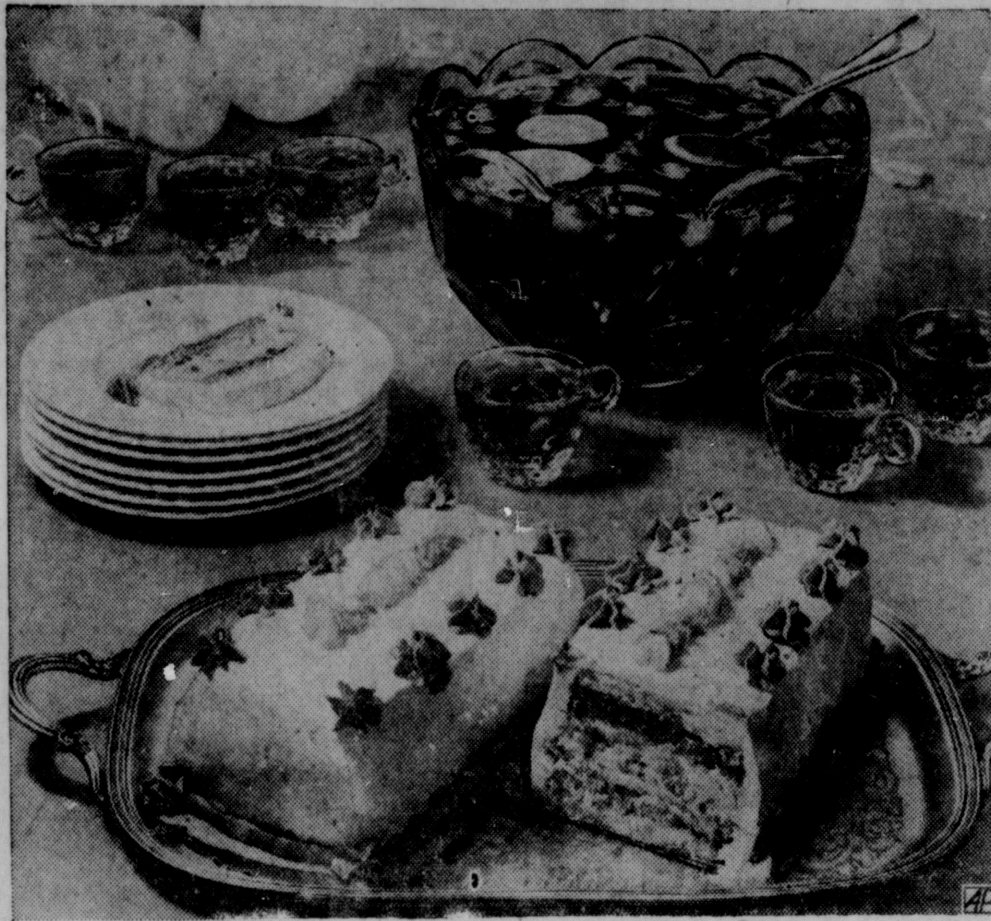

It was decided that the grange will assist the needy at Christmas.

Refreshments were served by Miss Sandra Hawkins and Miss Bonita Bartholow.

The grange will meet Wednesday evening and members are asked to bring cookies for the refreshments and articles for a basket for a needy family's Christmas.

Archeological studies indicate man may have made his first tools, crudely chipped stones, some 500,000 years ago.

Sandwich Loaf Cheers the New Year

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

If you are open to adding a rich snacktime treat to your party table, consider this sandwich loaf.

Such a concoction with its savory fillings and generous cheese frosting was the rage in the days when loaves of bread came uncut and cooks could slice them the long way.

But sandwich loaves may come back into fashion again because some kitchen artist figured out an ingenious way of putting them together with regular slices of bread. You'll find the secret in the following recipe directions.

PARTY SANDWICH LOAF

8 slices white bread, Butter or margarine for spreading, Chicken Salad Filling, Cheddar Cheese Filling, Deviled Ham Filling, Cheese Frosting, Green food coloring, Finely grated carrot sliced celery.

Prepare the fillings and refrigerate. Trim crusts from bread. Lay two slices of bread side by side and spread lightly with butter.

Spread with Chicken Salad mixture. Spread two more slices of bread with butter and Cheddar Cheese filling; place over Chicken Salad.

Make a third buttered layer and spread with Ham Filling. Place last two slices of bread on top; press together firmly; remove any oozing filling. Refrigerate while preparing Cheese Frosting.

Use about ¾ of the frosting to cover the sandwich loaf evenly. Tint remaining frosting with green food coloring; pipe on top and around bottom. Chill until serving time. Decorate with finely grated carrot and celery crescents.

CHICKEN SALAD FILLING: Mix together 1 cup cooked chopped chicken, ½ cup chopped celery, 2 tablespoons real mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon chili sauce and 1 teaspoon lemon juice.

CHEESE FILLING: Mix together ound grated cheese, 1-3 cu real mayonnaise, 1 chopped pimiento and a dash of cayenne.

HAM FILLING: Mix together a 5-ounce can of deviled ham and 2 tablespoons chopped crisp pickle slices.

CHEESE FROSTING: Mix together a three-ounce and 2 eight-ounce packages of cream cheese and 3 ounces of blue cheese.

Council Sets Improvement Standards

Columbiana Street Resolution Approved

COLUMBIANA — Columbiana Village Council passed a resolution setting standards for future street improvements at its Tuesday meeting.

Henceforth, improved streets must have an eight-inch thick base with a six-by-16-inch curb. Minimum street width will be 24 feet.

The resolution applies to all new streets and all established streets that may someday be improved. Pipe and storm sewers will be paid for by property owners, but the village will install the sewers, if so requested.

COUNCIL ALSO authorized the Board of Public Affairs to purchase a dump truck from the Koch Motor Company at a cost of $5,066. The delivery date of the 1963 Ford C-700 truck is expected around Feb. 1.

Franklin Furniture Company building and the Town Hall have been approved by Civil Defense as fallout shelters, it was reported. The buildings will be improved to meet the Civil Defense engineers' specifications.

Civil Defense will pay for the improvements and will also place sufficient supplies for a two weeks' period in the locations.

THE AMERICAN LEGION and the Veterans of Foreign Wars donated four three-by-five-foot flags to be flown at the war memorial in the cemetery. The raising and lowering of these flags each day will be continued by the police department.

Council will meet again at 7 p. m. Dec. 28 to conclude all 1962 business.

The next regular meeting will be Jan. 2 instead of the regular Council meeting date which falls on Jan. 1.

Better get out shoe leather to burn.

Santa Claus is coming to town.

You'll be on his list, perhaps even twice.

If you don't get him something real nice,

Santa Claus is coming to town.

We know you've got the money.

We know you want to buy.

But just don't wait 'till it's too late

Cause if we're out you'll die.

So, hop in your crate.

We love you so.

We think you're great.

But, bring all your dough.

Santa Claus is coming to town.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

A word from THERON at the Country Store

Whenever anyone starts in business in the area I always like to wish him well and help him a little if I can. A lot of people did the same for me.

We have a new Rambler dealer in Columbiana so I purchased a station wagon from him. I am real happy with it, got over 20 miles to the gallon on the first tank of gas.

If you live within 3 miles of the Country Store if you call IV 2-4327 on Thursdays we will pick you up, bring you out to the Country Store, you shop, we take you and your order of groceries to your home.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: When you buy frozen food dinners, . . . don't throw away the waxed carton. They are absolutely wonderful to start charcoal fires or in wood-burning fireplaces.

Take these boxes and place them under the logs or coals and lit the match. It works every time. The little bit of wax that is on these cartons starts the fires and keeps it glowin.

FIRE STARTER.

Dear Friends: Necessity IS the mother of invention!

Being not only a mother . . . but without soap, pads, scouring pads, soda, cream of tartar, and everything else to clean a burned pan, while on a recent vacation.

I ran across something different. Know what it was? It was that old suede brush! Yep, the very one we use to clean our suede shoes.

I burned—yes, even Heloise burns pans once in a while—a pan, but good. I filled it up with hot water and a little liquid detergent and let it sit overnight. The next morning, the roast and the potatoes were still stuck! My finger-nails and my kitchen knife would not remove it.

Then daylight dawned upon me. There was nothing in the house but my suede brush. As a last resort, I used it, and if that's not the best scouring brush I ever used!

This brush has a wooden back on it so it did not even ruin the polish on my fingernails!

Gals, I suppose you all have an old suede brush in the house. And even if it is your best one, who cares? These brushes can be washed easily, and laid in the kitchen window to dry. Again I'm gonna say . . . don't knock it until you have tried it.

(For those of you who do not have suede brushes, these can be bought in your dime and department stores. They are very inexpensive.)

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: Laundered dish towels seems to get a peculiar smell after they stay in a drawer for a while. How does one get rid of this odor?

MARIE LASKOWSKI

Anyone got the answer? If so, write to Heloise, in care of The Salem News. Letters do not have to be signed to appear.
